

trict Attorney Jerome plunged into the cross-examination. Mrs. Thaw looked refreshed after her three days' respite and answered the first questions confidently. Thaw brought with him from the Tombs several packages of letters and papers. Mr. Jerome, as upon the previous days, continued to jump about from point to point in the "witness" story. He first asked if she had not had trouble with her mother in Allegheny before going to Philadelphia to live—if she had not run away with a girl, Mrs. Thaw replied in the negative. Mr. Jerome's next question was "How long after the drugging in the Twenty-fourth street house was it that the account was opened for you in the Amsterdam bank by Stanford White?"

"I can't tell how long—it might have been a month."

"When did you first meet Frances Belmont?"

"When I was in Florida."

Much Documentary Evidence.

Mr. Jerome continued to hold the documentary evidence before the witness before answering his questions, formed on affidavits from her mother.

"Had you gone to supper with Frances Belmont before you met White?"

Again the reply was in the negative. The witness said she had gone to several suppers afterward, but White was present at all of them except one.

Mr. Jerome asked the witness if she had not often gone to suppers with two men whose names he whispered to her.

"I never went with them, but they were present."

"Did they not on occasions take you home?"

"One took me home once and the other twice, but there was another person with me."

"Do you know Angela Vincent?"

"Yes."

A letter was shown Mrs. Thaw, dated Boston, January 20, 1902, addressed to Charles Hartnett, White's private secretary. It read:

"Dear Hartnett:—Telephone Mrs. Nesbitt to let you know whenever Miss Evelyn decides to go on her vacation. Then send this note to the Mercantile Trust company. Please notify Miss Nesbitt that on receiving word she is about to start on her vacation you will send her the weekly checks for $25 and an additional check for $200."

"STANFORD WHITE."

One Important Letter.

The introduction of this letter and several checks refreshed Mrs. Thaw's memory to the extent that she lived at the Audubon apartments from February 1 to April 1, 1902. Between April 1 and 17 Mrs. Thaw and her mother went to live at the Wellington hotel. The District Attorney spent some time in developing this point and apparently attaches much importance to it.

The witness testified that she first met Thaw either in December, 1901, or January, 1902, at a dinner in Rector's.

This dinner was after a matinee and lasted an hour.

"At this dinner," asked Mr. Jerome, "was Mr. Thaw rational?"

"Yes."

"When he came to pay the check, he did not require any help in making the change, did he?"

"No, sir."

"Had Thaw during the first weeks of your acquaintance given you any presents?"

"No, only some violets."

"Did he ever send you any money with flowers?"

"Yes, once."

"Was this before or after he had called upon you?"

"I can't remember."

"Did it make no impression on your mind?"

"Yes, it did. That is why I remember it."

"You were not in the habit of receiving money from me were you?"

"No," she replied indignantly.

"How many times have you seen Thaw before he sent you money?"

"I can't remember."

"Did it strike you as strange?"

"I know it struck me as strange at the theater. I saw it going on all the time."

"Did you know him well?"

"No."

"Did your mother make you send the money back?"

"No."

"Who did send it back?"

"I did."

"How much?"

"Fifty dollars."

When she saw Thaw she asked him to not do such a thing again and he apologized.

Attended Late Supper.

Mrs. Thaw was questioned regarding a costume supper at the Hoffman house late in the summer of 1902 which she and Thaw attended. She had no photo of the costume she wore on that occasion. The supper broke up about 2 a. m. After that the witness did not see Thaw for a long time. He went abroad. Asked as to how often she saw Thaw up to June 1902, she said, "I don't think fifteen times," but could not state definitely.

"You were shown a paper in Abe Hummel's office."

"Yes."

"Is that the signature?"

"That is the name; I cannot identify the signature."

At Mr. Delmas's request, Mr. Jerome said the paper was signed "Ethel Thomas." Mrs. Thaw said she had not read the paper, and Mr. Jerome did not press his efforts to find out what it contained.

It is supposed to have been connected with a suit against Thaw.

"When you returned from Europe in October, 1902, did you not go direct to George Lederer's office and telephone to Stanford White?" asked Mr. Jerome.

"I did not."

"Did you not try to telephone Mr. White from the wharf?"

"I did not."

"Didn't you see George Lederer before you saw White?"

"No."

Relations With Other Men.

She first saw Lederer in 1902 when she went to him with a letter from Mr. Marks looking for a job. She said she never saw Lederer again.

"Did you ever go to supper with Lederer?"

"Yes."

"Alone?"

"Yes."

The witness first met Jack Barrymore in the summer of 1902. Thaw, Mrs. Thaw, Stanford White and some other men and girls also were there.

She could not say when she next saw Barrymore. She had gone to supper alone with him.

"Did you ever go to Dr. Carlton Flint with Jack Barrymore?"

"No."

"Ever see him?"

"Not that I can remember."

"Did White object to your going with Barrymore?"

"Yes, after he had seen my mother."

"When did you last see Mr. Barrymore?"

"When I went to call on his sister in Pittsburgh, in 1902."

At this point Dr. Carlton Flint, who had been sent for by the prosecution, appeared in court, was escorted to within a few feet of the witness, and confronted her.

"Did you ever see that man before?" demanded Mr. Jerome.

The witness turned quickly toward the doctor, hesitated a moment and said:

"Never."

"You are sure?"

"Yes."

Never Saw Dr. Flint.

"To the best of my knowledge I never saw him before."

"Did you not go to him with Jack Barrymore?"

"No."

WIVES ASK DIVORCES

One Says Husband Abandoned Her Within Week of Wedding.

E. Estella Everett brought suit in the District court yesterday for a divorce from Charles E. Everett. The couple were married in Ogden on May 19, last year, and the plaintiff charges that her husband abandoned her within a week of their wedding day and that he has ever since failed to provide for her support.

Rosie Dubinsky sued Frank Dubinsky for divorce in the District court yesterday. The couple were married at Cedar Rapids, Ia., on July 22, 1901. The wife charges that her husband has been guilty of cruel and inhuman treatment, in that he has frequently threatened to do her great bodily harm, and has used violent and impetuous language in her presence.

Dr. Flint withdrew.

"Did you ever stay out all night with Barrymore?"

"No."

"Didn't you go to supper with Barrymore one night and send your mother a telegram saying you were spending the night with another party?"

"I remember nothing of the sort."

"Did Stanford White at any time seek to have you take action against Barrymore?"

Mr. Delmas objected.

"It is very material," declared Mr. Jerome, "if we can show that Stanford White sought to have Barrymore arrested on a charge of seduction."

"That might show something more," rejoined Mr. Delmas, "than the jealousy of an older man of a younger sweet heart."

The cross-examination has taken a wide attitude," remarked Justice Fitzgerald, "but this question will not be allowed."

Mr. Jerome next asked the witness if she had understood Thaw was paying "honorable" court to her. She declared she did not know whether Thaw had made any such intentions during the first period of their acquaintance.

When She Traveled With Thaw.

Mr. Jerome then took Mrs. Thaw over the trip she made over Europe alone with Mr. Thaw. She denied that Thaw and she had traveled as Mr. and Mrs. Delmas.

Mr. Thaw said that previous to telling her story to Thaw she noticed nothing about him that she thought was a mark of irrationality.

When Thaw heard of the letter of credit which Stanford White had given her he became much excited.

Mr. Jerome questioned the witness about the cablegrams sent to Stanford White from London.

"You know your mother had complained to the American embassy about your going away with Thaw on a tour of Europe, did you not?" asked Mr. Jerome.

"I did not," she replied.

"The cablegrams," said Mrs. Thaw, "were about my mother and a man whose name I gave you. That man happened to be a secretary of the American embassy, and that is all the embassy had to do with. I never saw him again. I went to my mother's bedroom when she was in bed and insured her."

Mr. Thaw said this man had insured her in London also.

Mrs. Thaw said that when she went to New York from Europe, she stopped first at the Holland house, but being unable to secure rooms, she went on to the Savoy. In answer to questions, she insisted that she stopped nowhere else, and did not use the telephone.

In describing their life in Paris, Mrs. Thaw said she found in the rooms some peculiar-looking needles which looked like darning needles. She asked Mr. Thaw about them, and he said they were old stuff some one had left behind.

Mr. Thaw had never written her about them, she said; whereupon Mr. Jerome produced one of the letters which the defense had introduced in Paris, she testified, except occasionally.

At this point luncheon recess was taken.

Afternoon Session.

Mrs. Thaw after the noon recess resumed the stand.

After returning to New York on October 14, 1902, she went first to the Savoy hotel and then to the Navarre, staying at each hotel several weeks. Her bills at these hotels she paid out of money given her by Thaw.

Before she left the Savoy she had begun to tell the terrible stories Thaw told her about Harry.

"But you continued to pay your expenses out of money Thaw gave you?"

"Yes."

"Did White give you any presents while there?"

"No."

While at the Savoy Mr. Thaw said she went out several times with Thaw, and told him about her travels with Thaw.

"He knew more about the matter than I did."

"Did he tell you he knew about your mother?"

Mr. Jerome asked the witness if her mother and a Miss Simonton had not gone to White upon their return from Europe, and taxed him with the girl's story of her downfall, the architect replying:

White Denied Crime.

"My wife on one side and my son upon the other, and may God strike me dead if I ever harmed her."

"Yes, he told me, and he told me also his body turned ice-cold when he accused him. He said he could handle a dozen men, but he was afraid of this Simonton woman."

Mrs. Thaw said that Thaw had sent for Miss Simonton to accompany Mrs. Nesbitt home, as she was determined to go. She declared that Thaw paid Mrs. Nesbitt's fare to America.

She said that before Thaw returned from Europe she went several times to dinners at the "Rover." Several times she went alone, trusting to White's word that there would be others present.

Mrs. Thaw also told of going to Philadelphia and returning with Angela Vincent, an actress.

"Did White tell you about Ethel Thomas?"

"Who did?"

"Abraham Hummel,"

Thaw's answer had been Thaw told her cocaine and did not tell Hummel she had, nor that Thaw had tried to administer cocaine to her.

At the direction of Mr. Jerome, repeated all the stories White had told her about Harry Thaw.

"Did you see him in America when you had ceased to love him?"

"Yes, I thought it all very horrible."

Left Mother Behind.

Thaw called to see her at the Navarre the day he returned from Europe. She also told of her mother insisting on returning to America and of her leaving her mother in London and going upon the second tour.

"Did Thaw ever tell your mother about your being kidnapped?" asked Mr. Jerome.

"No."

"Was there any talk of a suit against Thaw for kidnapping?"

"Not that I ever heard."

"Were you depressed upon your return to America in 1903?"

"No."

"And Thaw had proposed to you just three months before?"

"Yes."

The witness admitted that she and Thaw sat down at a table in a restaurant with the man who told her that Thaw tied girls to bedposts and beat them.

"What was Thaw's manner toward this man?" Was it rational or irrational?" asked Mr. Jerome.

"He was more or less amused."

Mrs. Thaw testified that she went with Thaw to the Grand hotel in January, 1904, and lived with him as his wife. One day, because of a conversation she had upon the street with a woman, she left the defendant and spent the night at the hotel York, returning to Thaw the next day.

Rejoinder in the Thaw case was taken at 4:15 until tomorrow morning, when Mr. Hummel will be called to the stand to prove insanity.

Mr. Jerome said after this he would have only a few more questions to ask Mrs. Thaw, confining himself to affidavits.

WOMAN ARRAIGNED IN FEDERAL COURT

Charged With Sending Objectionable Matter Through United States Mail.

Standing slim, tall and straight, with her ash blonde hair carefully combed and with a silent, sad demeanor, Mrs. A. M. Mayberry was yesterday arraigned in the United States court on the charge of sending objectionable matter through the mails. "Not guilty" was the plea and the case will go over to the April term.

The woman, who was dressed in black and more than one sympathetic eye followed her, Mrs. Mayberry, who was the wife of a mining man, dates all her troubles from her separation from her former husband. Almost distracted by her trouble, she wrote several letters, some with unimpaired matter upon them, and also sent them to the second wife. The case has elicited considerable attention, both because of the former husband's prominence and because of the fact that Mrs. Mayberry seems eccentric, to put it mildly. But she expressed herself perfectly willing to spend her life in prison, saying that there was nothing more to live for and that she might just as well be there as anywhere else.

Friends of the woman, it is said, will try to exert influence to have her taken out of her present trying position.

SUPERVISORS ARE NAMED

Board of County Commissioners Makes a Number of Appointments.

The Board of County Commissioners met yesterday and appointed the following district supervisors:

District No. 1—George Naylor.
District No. 2—Willard Snow.
District No. 3—William Roach.
District No. 4—William Carlson.
District No. 5—Peter Van Valkenburg.
District No. 6—Hymon Covert.
District No. 7—Samuel Perry.
District No. 8—Lafayette Childster.
District No. 9—Fred A. Cooper.
District No. 10—David Mackay.
District No. 11—J. Sandberg.
District No. 12—Frank Rudy.

T. W. Ball and G. W. Butler were confirmed by the board as assistants to the district supervisors.

They will assist in getting out tax valuation notices, and their compensation is to be $3 a day.

No medicine extant has such a long and numerous record of cures in such cases as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. No medicine has such a strong, powerful, and permanent effect upon the female system as this. It is a powerful, and permanent effect upon the female system as this. It is a powerful, and permanent effect upon the female system as this.

In any condition of the female system, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can do only good—never harm. Its whole effect is to strengthen, invigorate and regulate the whole female system and especially the pelvic organs. When these are deranged in function or affected by disease, the stomach and other organs of digestion become sympathetically deranged, the nerves are weakened, and a long list of bad, unpleasant symptoms follow. Too much must not be expected of this "Favorite Prescription." It will not perform miracles; will not cure tumors—no medicine will. It will often prevent them, if taken in time, and thus the operating table and the surgeon's knife may be avoided.

Women suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Doctor Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser (1000 pages) is sent free on receipt of one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address as above.

FAMOUS PHYSICIAN PRESCRIBES SIMPLY

Publishes Inexpensive Formula That Will Break a Cold Quickly.

Mix half ounce of the Pure Virgin Oil of Pine with two ounces of glycerine and half a pint of good whiskey; shake well and use in teaspoonful doses. A famous throat and lung specialist, who established a camp for consumptives in the pine woods of Maine, and whose remarkable cures there have attracted great attention from the medical world, declares that the above formula will heal the lungs and cure any cough that is curable. It will break up a cold in twenty-four hours. The ingredients can be secured from any good prescription druggist at small cost.

Inquiry at the prescription department of a leading pharmacy elicited the information that the Pure Virgin Oil of Pine is put up only in half-ounce vials for dispensing; each vial is securely sealed in a round wooden case with engraved wrapper, showing the name—Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure)—plainly printed thereon. There are many rank imitations of Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), which are put out under various names. Never accept these as a substitute for the Pure Virgin Oil of Pine, as they will invariably produce nausea and never effect the desired result.

Virgin Oil of Pine is also said to be a perfect neutralizing agent for uric acid.

VETERAN PIONEER SIMPLY ASTOUNDED

Springville Resident Surprised at Growth and Change in Zion City.

In a comfortable bench in one of the railroad offices of the city an old man sat yesterday afternoon reading one of the daily papers with keen interest. In appearance he was neatness personified, from the well-polished boots to the neat slouch hat at his side. He was reading with untold interest the wonderful improvements that are being made in the city, and to him it was like a dream. By trade he was a carpenter and had helped build the first house in Utah in the early pioneer days, and since these days of the long ago he had never visited the city until yesterday, when he left his home at Springville and came to the city that he had not seen for so many years, and, like a child, had come to see the sights. On all sides the changes were marvelous. In place of the trees that at one time bloomed along the main thoroughfare, he saw paved streets and sidewalks filled with busy, prosperous men and women scurrying to and fro. In place of the country wagons that in his day stood at the corners, when neighbors could quietly discuss the prospect of the coming crops, automobiles and street cars buzzed along; and where were the old-fashioned little wooden stores that in his time had seemed so fine? Gone, too, with the other landmarks, and even the people looked different. No homespun clothes were to be seen, and there was no familiar face in the throng. The old man watched the hurrying crowd until the twilight came and carefully folded up the paper and mingled with the throng, but felt that he belonged to the past.

VETERAN PIONEER SIMPLY ASTOUNDED

Springville Resident Surprised at Growth and Change in Zion City.

In a comfortable bench in one of the railroad offices of the city an old man sat yesterday afternoon reading one of the daily papers with keen interest. In appearance he was neatness personified, from the well-polished boots to the neat slouch hat at his side. He was reading with untold interest the wonderful improvements that are being made in the city, and to him it was like a dream. By trade he was a carpenter and had helped build the first house in Utah in the early pioneer days, and since these days of the long ago he had never visited the city until yesterday, when he left his home at Springville and came to the city that he had not seen for so many years, and, like a child, had come to see the sights. On all sides the changes were marvelous. In place of the trees that at one time bloomed along the main thoroughfare, he saw paved streets and sidewalks filled with busy, prosperous men and women scurrying to and fro. In place of the country wagons that in his day stood at the corners, when neighbors could quietly discuss the prospect of the coming crops, automobiles and street cars buzzed along; and where were the old-fashioned little wooden stores that in his time had seemed so fine? Gone, too, with the other landmarks, and even the people looked different. No homespun clothes were to be seen, and there was no familiar face in the throng. The old man watched the hurrying crowd until the twilight came and carefully folded up the paper and mingled with the throng, but felt that he belonged to the past.

WOMAN ARRAIGNED IN FEDERAL COURT

Charged With Sending Objectionable Matter Through United States Mail.

Standing slim, tall and straight, with her ash blonde hair carefully combed and with a silent, sad demeanor, Mrs. A. M. Mayberry was yesterday arraigned in the United States court on the charge of sending objectionable matter through the mails. "Not guilty" was the plea and the case will go over to the April term.

The woman, who was dressed in black and more than one sympathetic eye followed her, Mrs. Mayberry, who was the wife of a mining man, dates all her troubles from her separation from her former husband. Almost distracted by her trouble, she wrote several letters, some with unimpaired matter upon them, and also sent them to the second wife. The case has elicited considerable attention, both because of the former husband's prominence and because of the fact that Mrs. Mayberry seems eccentric, to put it mildly. But she expressed herself perfectly willing to spend her life in prison, saying that there was nothing more to live for and that she might just as well be there as anywhere else.

Friends of the woman, it is said, will try to exert influence to have her taken out of her present trying position.

Bad symptoms.

The woman who has periodical headaches, backache, sees imaginary dark spots or specks floating or dancing before her eyes, has gnawing distress or heavy full feeling in stomach, faint spells, dragging down feeling in lower abdominal or pelvic region, easily startled or excited, irregular or painful periods, with or without pelvic catarrh, is suffering from weakness and derangement of the female system. Not all of above symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

Neglected or badly treated and such cases run into malady and even mania. The surgeon's knife if they do not rest curatively.

No medicine extant has such a long and numerous record of cures in such cases as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. No medicine has such a strong, powerful, and permanent effect upon the female system as this. It is a powerful, and permanent effect upon the female system as this. It is a powerful, and permanent effect upon the female system as this.

In any condition of the female system, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can do only good—never harm. Its whole effect is to strengthen, invigorate and regulate the whole female system and especially the pelvic organs. When these are deranged in function or affected by disease, the stomach and other organs of digestion become sympathetically deranged, the nerves are weakened, and a long list of bad, unpleasant symptoms follow. Too much must not be expected of this "Favorite Prescription." It will not perform miracles; will not cure tumors—no medicine will. It will often prevent them, if taken in time, and thus the operating table and the surgeon's knife may be avoided.

Women suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Doctor Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser (1000 pages) is sent free on receipt of one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address as above.

CRUSHED BENEATH HUGE MASS OF COAL

Wilford Allen Seriously Injured by Falling Rock in Coalville Mine.

Special to The Tribune.

COALVILLE, Feb. 24.—A painful accident befell Wilford Allen yesterday morning while at work in the Wasatch coal mine. He and his father were working together in the mine, and they had fired a shot the night previous, so as to get as much coal down for the next day as possible. The boy got to the room first and began picking around on the roof to get the loose coal down. He evidently did not realize the amount of coal there was in the roof loose, getting immediately under the coal instead of standing to one side so as to be out of danger. When he began to loosen the coal, a large quantity fell and the boy was caught with the falling mass on the shoulders and back, and almost completely burying him. He was taken from the mine and brought home as quickly as possible and the doctor summoned. On examining him, he was found to be broken, but his back was badly bruised and crushed, and there was a slight cut on the right cheek, and another on the back of the head. It is feared that the young man is injured internally. He suffers great pain and it will be another day before the full extent of his injuries can be determined. The injured boy is the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Allen, and has been working in the mine about a year.
